

TED<sup>x</sup> LakeForestHighSchool

x = independently organized TED event

Thank you so much for your interest in TEDxLakeForestHighSchool. From the event's inception, we've been overwhelmed by the amount of people wanting to attend or be involved in the production. We've been doing our very best to keep this as student-centered as possible - we have 16 student speakers and dozens more involved in the media production, promotion, speaker selection, stage design and general event planning. As a TEDxYouth event, our first and foremost priority is to the students.

Per official TED regulations, we are only allowed 100 guests at our event, with limited additional seating for volunteers. The student attendee response was tremendous, and because of the incredible response from both students and community members who wanted to be a part of the process as speakers and planners, our ability to offer additional tickets is limited. Throughout the planning process, we've sought to create an event that will feature our amazing community members, but as an official TEDxYouth event, we must make it a priority that we keep a central place for the students as speakers, planners, and attendees.

We are so flattered that so many community members wish to attend. We plan on this being an annual event, and in the future it's possible that we can host a larger conference. We would love to bring together all of the awesome people that wish to experience TEDxLakeForestHighSchool. For the 2015 iteration of the event, we really hope you check out our live webcast at tedxlfhs.com on April 16th and enjoy our incredible panel of student and community speakers.

Best,
